TheFreshPage Is Now Rebranded as TheLuxGuys

From Music Blog to Jewelry Blog

Vancouver, BC, April 2020 – For many years TheFreshpage.com and “Electro House Music by TheFreshpage” on Facebook have been a space where people went to discuss electro house music. However, over the past few years, Sam Omid, The Founder, recognized that the audience had matured and was looking for something outside of the deprecated Electro House Music.

On April 1, 2020 Sam Omid joined forces with Jason Veen to create something new, completely original and relevant to their existing audience. After much discussion and research, they found that their audience was more mature and in search of the finer things in life. They want to live a certain lifestyle filled with luxury.

Background:

Known as “The Jewellery Guy” aboard some of the most luxurious cruise ships, Jason hosted his own show with a dedicated channel focused on buying diamonds, fine jewelry and luxury timepieces in the top shopping destinations around the world. His career took him to New York’s Diamond District and as far as the Tanzanite mine in Tanzania, Africa.

Conversely, Sam brings an immensely successful career with over two decades of experience in Digital Marketing and is now one of the most sought-after consultants in his field. His forward-thinking methods proved that he not only had a natural ability, but his results proved over and over that he was the absolute best in his field. He is an industry leader with growth driven strategies, enthusiasm and countless success stories.

TheFreshPage now rebranded as TheLuxguys

Sam and Jason are ecstatic about their new venture which combines both of their incredible experiences. TheLuxGuys.com is their new Jewelry blog which allows both to shine in their own respect. What’s special about their new venture is that neither one could exist without the other, Jason’s vast knowledge in the jewelry space combined with Sam’s marketing expertise is truly one of a kind.
